

Century Station Handicapped Access

Please remind your clients that handicapped access into Century Station for both 341s and hearings can be accomplished by entering the Martin Street entrance to the building. For 341s, they will need to be escorted by a Court Security Officer to the back loading dock, which is ramp accessible and has an entrance directly into the 341 meeting room hallway.

As we all know, parking in downtown Raleigh is at a premium. Although the court does not have the ability to offer parking, the City of Raleigh makes accommodations for cars with handicapped placards. This information can be found at:
